

Overview

A growing number of building industry firms are adapting "lean production" principles, developed in the manufacturing sector, to engineering and construction ... a trend accelerated by increased interest in Design-Build procurement methods and Integrated Project Delivery (IPD) generally. How do lean production innovations affect construction site safety? Researchers performed case studies of seven building projects and surveyed Lean

-
-
-
-